NORWAY AND VICINITY.

Died in School.

Wednesday morning, William E. Frost, principal of Westford academy at Westford, Mass., fell dead while teaching a class in that school, the cause being heart failure. Mr. Frost was a native of Norway, born in 1842. In 1862 he enlisted in Co. H., 23d Maine Volunteers for nine months, was made sergeant and was discharged from the service for disability, the result of sickness incurred in the service. Though this regiment was in no great battle it performed important duties in guarding positions and lost many men from disease.

Mr. Frost had been principal of this academy since April, 1872, and took a prominent position in the town. He leaves a widow and two sons.

William Edwin Frost was the younger son of Simon and Serena (Foster) Frost, his father being one of the pioneer settlers in the western part of this town.

NUMBER 49. DECEMBER 2, 1904, NORWAY AND SOUTH PARIS, MAINE. VOLUME XXXV

HENRY J. BANGS OF NORWAY.

Town Treasurer Henry J. Bangs, who is one of the leading merchants of Norway, has been a citizen of our town twenty-four years, being a native of Wayne. He first entered the employ of F. H. Noyes, who conducted a grocery business in the store now occupied by Mr. Bangs and enlarged in 1899. In 1890 in company with C. F. Frost he entered business at this stand, two years later buying out Mr. Frost and becoming sole proprietor. In 1899 the store was enlarged by an addition of equal size upon the ground floor and the putting on a second story, giving 8400 square feet of space and the largest grocery store in this section. In addition to a large, full line of groceries, there is a lamp, china and glassware department in the second story that is complete and extensive. The business is constantly increasing and last year's trade was the greatest in the history of the store and business.

Mr. Bangs is a member of Oxford Lodge of Masons, and a past grand of Norway Lodge, I. O. O. F. He is also a member of Norway Grange, P. of H. He is actively interested in promoting the business welfare of the town, was instrumental in organizing the Board of Trade and is its president. For nine years as treasurer he has had charge of the moneys belonging to the town.

Mr. Bangs married Minnie, daughter of Romanzo Dean of Buckfield, and they have three bright little daughters. Mrs. Bangs is a popular and active worker in social circles and is much sought for in organizations of a social nature. She is Noble Grand of Mt. Hope Rebekah Lodge and an active member of Norway Grange. Mr. and Mrs. Bangs have a very pleasant home near the store. The house has recently received extensive repairs including modern bath rooms and a large hot water heating system installed.

The picture was loaned us by the Portland Board of Trade Journal, being the same as was published in their Norway Souvenir Number.

Thanksgiving Ball.

A social event has become to be regarded as a necessary feature as certain as the day itself for Thanksgiving and that event is the annual ball of Pennesseewassee Lodge, No. 18, Knights of Pythias. It is past the experimental stage and always an assured success. While not as elaborate as some gatherings of the kind it is a pleasant dancing party and makes up in sociability and all round enjoyment a full measure.

This year's ball was the same pleasant, jolly success as those of past years. There were about seventy-five couples on the floor and an excellent order of fourteen dances was carried through. The gallery was well filled with spectators, and a good sum of money is the profit going to the Lodge. Music was by Stearns' orchestra of six men supplemented by Harry L. Plummer of Lewiston, bass viol player, who is an old favorite in Norway.

The thermometer registered below zero Tuesday morniug.

George Witham brought a 200 pound buck from Gilead, Monday.

A. B. McAllister has gone on his vacation to his old home in Lovell.

D. S. Brooks and family have gone to Tamworth and Portland this week.

Anna Bennett is confined to the house this week with a sprained shoulder.

Mildred F. Millett of Mechanic Falls visited at F. W. Faunce's over Sunday.

J. O. Crooker has set a hot blast furnace in Crooked River Grange Hall, Bolster's Mills.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Briggs of Salem, Mass., were at George F. Hathaway's Thanksgiving.

Owing to the prevalence of disease, the Center school will not open for the winterm until Dec. 12.

Rev. Mr. Brooks will preach at the old North chapel next Sabbath at 2.30 p. m., if not stormy.

E. N. Swett and wife entertained his brother, W. H. Swett and family of South Paris, Thanksgiving.

Alice and Hollis Twombly from Oxford heve visited their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Twombly, this week.

Mrs. E. S. Cummings visited her parents, J. H. Elliott and wife in Rumford returning Wednesday morning to Norway.

Mrs. M. J. Dunham of Auburn is visiting her niece, Mrs. James A. Shedd who has been quite ill. She is improving somewhat.

The Methodist pastor will speak upon Methodist Polity and the General Rules of the Church next Sunday morning followed by communion.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Briggs of Salem, Mass., and Julia E. Hathaway of Portland were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Hathaway last Friday.

Fred M. Sampson of Cambridge, Mass., visited his mother, Mrs. Carrie Giles and brothers, John F., and M. W. Sampson, Thanksgiving, returning Monday.

Refreshments will be served at the regular meeting of Mount Hope Rebekah lodge, Friday evening by the young ladies. All members are invited to attend.

The ladies of the W. R. C. will have one of their good suppers at G. A. R. hall next Thursday evening. The proceeds will go to the Home for Aged Women.

H. G. Burgess, wife and daughter have closed their house on Elm Hill and have moved into the village for the winter. They are stopping with Mrs. Burgess' sister, Mary A. Crooker, at the Falls.

On Monday, Dec. 5, is the annual election of officers of Harry Rust Relief Corps. On Thursday evening, Dec. 8, the Corps will give a supper in G. A. R. hall for the benefit of Norway Home for Aged Women. Every effort will be made that this shall be a success and a generous patronage is assured.

Mrs. Jonathan Starbird is quite sick.

Mrs. Elmira Bicknell has returned home from West Paris.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Foster were in Boston the first of the week.

George D. Swift has his new house on Paris street up and boarded.

Mabel Abbott of Bethel is visiting at her sister's, Mrs. O. L. Stone's.

Ambrose McAllister is spending his vacation at Stoneham deer hunting.

Irving Frost has gone to Westford, Mass., to attend the funeral of his cousin, Wm. E. Frost, who died very suddenly Wednesday morning.

Handle Your Advertising Intelligently.

Advertising is a good thing and can be made profitable to the merchant who handles it intelligently. Observe, we say intelligently. We noticed in a contemporary a display ad. setting forth in large type, under the heading "Lawn and Garden Supplies," the fact that the advertisers are "carrying in stock" garden hose, watering pots, insecticides, and so on through the list of "supplies of all kinds for the lawn and garden." That is not handling advertising intelligently. No merchant in the middle of the winter season can go on spending good cash advertising grass seed for Maine lawns and expect to realize a profit on the investment.

Royce Small spent Thanksgiving at East Stoneham.

Mrs. J. M. French is spending the winter at Lincoln, Neb.

Fred Kelley is remaining at home from Auburn for a while.

Dr. E. Calvin Walker is confined to the house with a carbuncle.

Arthur G. Hill spent Thanksgiving and the remaining days of the week at Buxton.

Helen Noyes was the guest of Mrs. Harriet Bird at South Paris for Thanksgiving.

Emil Hermes and wife of Turner spent Thanksgiving with his mother, Mrs. Otto Schnuer.

Mary E. Stone has returned from her visit to Massachusetts and is spending the winter at F. P. Stone's.

Eugene Lebroke has been sick a couple weeks with rheumatism, which followed a strain in the back from lifting.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy H. Nevers and four children spent Thanksgiving at Mrs. Nevers' old home at East Stoneham.

The Junior Christian Endeavor Society will have a sociable, at the vestry of the church, on Tuesday afternoon, from three to five o'clock.

Oscar N. Cox and wife, F. H. Noyes and wife and daughter Mildred, L. Etta Noyes and Della M. Noyes ate Thanksgiving dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cox.

Walter C. Hobbs of Hudson, Mass., is visiting his brother at the old farm at the Center. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. C. Hobbs, his parents, are stopping with him at Hudson. His mother has been there since last spring, and his father went there about a month ago.

Stephen B. Cummings and wife entertained George I. Cummings and family, Mrs. H. T. Stuart, George H. Cullinan and wife, Frank H. Beckand wife, Moses P. Stiles and family, Alton Whitehead, Edward Kneeland and wife, David R. Jordan and wife and Roy Jordan on Thanksgiving.

Amasa A. Robbins, carriage builder and wood worker at the head of Main street, with his brother-in-law, Mr. Rowe, and his son, H. A. Robbins, recently returned from Ketchum bringing with them three deer. They were absent from town a week and had a splendid hunting trip. There were plenty of deer up the valley of the Sunday river.

Shedd--Cummings.

At three o'clock on the afternoon of Thanksgiving day was the wedding of two of Norway's best known and highly popular young people, Fred H. Cummings and Cora Belle Shedd. The ceremony took place at the residence of Mrs. L. B. Holden, aunt of the bride and with whom she has made her home since the death of her mother in early life.

The rooms were tastily decorated with roses and chrysanthemums, though no elaborate decorations were planned. The single ring service was used and was conducted by Rev. B. S. Rideout of the Second Congregational church, the immediate relatives of both bride and groom being the only guests present. The bride wore a handsome blue silk and carried a bouquet of roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Cummings departed on the afternoon express for a visit in Boston and Plymouth, Mass. They expect to return this week and will occupy the lower rent in the C. B. Cummings homestead on upper Main street.

The groom is a son of the late Charles B., and Frances Cummings and is a member with his brothers of the well known firm of C. B. Cummings & Sons, is a graduate of Norway schools and a member of some of the local fraternities. He is a remarkably social man and is renowned for ability to manage business or social affairs calling for attention to many details and is fine company in any party.

Mrs. Cummings is a graduate of Norway High school and has been one of the most conscientious and able teachers of Norway schools. Both in district and in the village graded schools her work was very successful. For several years she taught the fourth grade. She has hosts of friends gained through her whole-souled efforts to help others and to give time and effort to each good work. She was the life of a large circle of friends who though sorry to lose her as they must to some extent wish both her and her husband every joy.

A goodly number of valuable gifts witness the affection of relatives and friends.

Otto Schnuer was in Portland, Saturday, on business.

Master Roland Nevers visited his grandfather, C. F. Small, at East Stoneham last week.

This week Mrs. James N. Favor entertained her sister, Mrs. Ernest Hall, and daughter of Augusta.

J. O. Crooker has built a double gate between his store and the Abbott store to keep unauthorized parties out of the alley.

Lena Shank came home for Thanksgiving from Farmington Normal school and is spending this week as well at home.

Mrs. C. S. and Carrie Tucker entertained Mrs. J. M. and Elsie Favor and Mr. and Mrs. Jas. N. Favor, Thanksgiving day.

See to it that the copy for your Holiday Advertising reaches us early next week. You can have such space as your need provided application for it is made at once.

Mrs. Fred M. Davis of Yarmouth has been spending a few days with her parents, George H. Bennett and wife. She returned Wednesday and with her her sister, Hazel Bennett, for a visit.

Edward E. Libby, electrician at the Oxford Light Company's station, is spending a week's vacation at Horace P. Sawyer's camp at Greenwood. Mr. Sawyer is at the camp having his winter's wood cut.

"The biggest bear we ever had" said Taxidermist Nash of one shot by Peter McIntire of Auburn, and the skin sent for mounting. It weighed 368 pounds dressed. A freak animal is a fine albino gray squirrel, all white and with pink eyes.

Willie R. Lebroke, son of Eugene Lebroke, had a birthday party Thanksgiving on the occasion of his sixth birthday from the hours of 2 to 5. There were sixteen little folks present, who brought remembrances to their host and spent a very delightful afternoon.

The members of the Senior Christian Endeavor Society of the Congregational Church, were entertained by Rev. B. S. Rideout and family at their home on Main St., Wednesday evening. After a very few minutes devoted to business and discussion of the work for the winter, the remainder of the evening was spent in a social way. Music, games, etc., made the evening pass very pleasantly. Refreshments of ice cream, cake and fancy crackers were served.

The second in the series of entertainments given under the auspices of the senior class Norway High School will be this Thursday evening, Dec. 1, at 8 o'clock. The talent is the Royal Entertainers, G. Paul Smith, who will present original and beautiful pictures made by what is termed sand etchings, and Willard Gorton, who will impersonate famous characters. These men are highly spoken of and will give a very fine entertainment without doubt, and maintain the high standard set by the first of the series, which was a very brilliant success.

Walter F. Tubbs and Regnall Dinsmore were at East Stoneham, Friday, deer hunting. Tubbs secured two handsome bucks, one weighing 175 pounds, the other 100. Dinsmore had no luck. Before his return his younger brother Rollin went out Saturday and but a short distance from the house saw a deer and he got his. On Regnall's return empty handed, learning of the luck of his brother he started again and near the head of Pennesseewassee lake saw and killed the one he was looking for. There were happy boys in that household that night.

EAST OXFORD.

Charles Flood was at home from Colby college, Thanksgiving.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hall of Lisbon visited friends here Sunday.

Wilfred Perkins, Alvin Smith and John Russell are packing apples here.

A. Chester Witham, J. F. Fuller and E. Fuller went last Friday to Stoneham deer hunting.

H. H. McKeen and Geo. McKeen and family have moved to Norway where Mr. McKeen has taken a logging job.

Mr. and Mrs. Solon Downing entertained their friends, Monday evening, Nov. 28. It was the tenth anniversary of their marriage.

SOUTH PARIS.

Two Silver Weddings.

Last Friday being the twenty-fifth anniversiary of the marriage of engineer Edwin N. and Abbie (Needham) Anderson, they observed it by inviting to spend the evening their friends, who played in the opera, Our Folks, recently presented by the Universalist Good Cheer Society here, at Norway and at Oxford.

Prominent among the guests were Albert D. and Emma E. (Robinson) Park, who unbeknown to their hosts had also completed a quarter century of wedded life. It thus became a dual celebration, and even more joyous than otherwise it could have been.

The parlors were charmingly decorated and the party enjoyed themselves with games, music and in other ways. As they are a thoroughly congenial party the evening was pleasantly passed. A very appetizing lunch was served by the hostess.

Paris Schools.

At the regular meeting of the school board on Saturday, the resignation of Annie M. Jenne was accepted and Dora Stevens was elected to Miss Jenne's former place as teacher of the Pleasant Street primary school. Miss Jenne will resume her course in the normal school at Farmington. Miss Stevens has taught previously in this town and has had a normal training.

The winter term of all the schools in town, including the high school, will open on Tuesday, Dec. 27. It is now the plan to have a short spring vacation and close the year June 2, 1605.

The teachers in the West Paris, Paris Hill and South Paris schools, except Miss Jenne, who resigned, were all re-elected.

Maud Douglass is visiting relatives in Portland.

Grace I. DeMotte is a guest of Susie M. Wheeler.

Elmer H. Haggett and family spent Sunday in Oxford.

A. L. Cole brought a deer from up country Monday morning.

PARIS HILL.

Parlin—West.

There was a quiet home wedding at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Parlin, when their daughter Emily was united in marriage to Lester A. West. Rev. E. O. Taylor of the Paris Baptist church officiated. Only nearest relatives of the bride and groom were present. At the close of the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served and a pleasast hour passed. The date was that of the twelfth anniversary of the wedding of Fletcher A. Parlin, who with Mrs. Parlin in her own wedding dress were man and matron of honor. Miss Parlin's gown was white mohair and Mrs. West's going away dress dark blue cloth.

Mrs. Cullen L. Carter is visiting her sister, Mrs. Wiley of Bethel.

Laurence McFarland of Portland was the guest of Will Atwood over Thanksgiving.

Elmer W. Cummings was home from the University of Maine for the Thanksgiving recess.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Thorne of Pittsburg, Pa., who have been at Paris since May, left on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Perley B. Ryerson of Mansfield, Mass., are guests of Mr. Ryerson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Ryerson.

E. D. Ryerson had the misfortune to cut his foot very severely last week Monday. He is doing as well as could be expected.

Mr. and Mrs. Bart. Jacob were made happy by the advent of a daughter on Nov. 21. Mrs. Jacob is the daughter of L. M. Brown of Paris and New York.

At G. B. Shaw's was one of the pleasantest of the many Thanksgiving parties in this place. All of Mr. Shaw's sons and daughters were present during the day, and with the grandchildren made a very merry party. Mr. Shaw is so fortunate as to have enough grandsons for a base ball team, manager and all, with two granddaughters for mascot and scorer.

The village schools closed last Friday with a union entertainment at Academy hall. The comedy "Deception" was given by members of the grammar grade. A rather novel version of Mother Goose was given by the pupils of the primary school assisted by some of the grammar grade. Mother Goose being ill with nervous prostration was at the "Beeches" and Father Goose, Howard Cole, took her place. The goslings all behaved very well however, especially Little Miss Muffet, who so far overcame her fear of the spider as to pick it up to see how it worked. Recitations by Edith Strout and Annie Parris, vocal solos by Jessie Jackson and little Arlita Yates, and a piano solo by Miss L. Cole completed the very pretty entertainment.

SOUTH WOODSTOCK.

Jessie Jackson is visiting Will Andrews.

O. T. Lurvey has bought a horse to mate his black one.

G. L. Whitman has moved onto the place that he purchased recently.

Aunt Rachel Jackson is visiting her son, Ed. Andrews at Bryant's Pond.

Daniel Bryant spent Thanksgiving day with his daughter, Mrs. F. E. Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Beck visited their daughter at Welchville last week.

Mrs. Ella Andrews and Mrs. Dr. Andrews spent the day with Mrs. Gertie Andrews recently.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Davis entertained O. W. Robbins and wife and E. B. Davis and wife Thanksgiving day.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Davis and Gerald spent Thanksgiving with Mrs. Davis' parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Felt.

Business is rushing at I. W. Andrews & Son's mill and shop. They have lately purchased a gasoline engine, which will be very convenient, as the water has been so low for the past year that they couldn't do the work they wanted to.

The Nazarene.

Have you heard the olden story
Of that time long, long ago,
When mid glints of angels' pinions
Was hailed a Christ below?

When the star in obeisance waited
Over the Christ-child's head,
To show the anxious watchers,
To a world's Saviour led.

And I think of the song of the angels,
More sweet than e'er was sung,
Rang out on that stilly evening,
When all the earth was young.

And even the little little children
Asleep in in each tiny bed,
Must have heard the sound of angel wings
Rustling overhead.

And smiled as they heard while sleeping,
The song of that angel band,
On that star-crowned night of long ago,
Where the wise and great did stand.

Pond'ring the mighty question
Of the lowly manger scene,
While the star in the East still waited
O'er that mystery foreseen.

And I think that the mother, Mary,
As she bent o'er the Child-king, born
Humble, yet holy, Christ the Lord,
On that first bright, rosy morn,

Must have had great hope for the future,
As in wonder the wise came in,
While she silently mused on the promise,
"He shall save the world from sin."

To bring light at His coming,
The promise was unfurled,
And blest redemption thro' His love,
To a lost and sinful world.

JENNIE E. SNOW KIMBALL.

WEST FRYEBURG.

The Light of the Young Moon.

Tuesday, Nov. 15th, the Stirling Literary club spent a most enjoyable afternoon and evening as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Meserve. In the afternoon the regular session of the club was held a brief season after the business of the day being given to reading from the essays of R. W. Emerson, the program for the day. After adjournment the evening guests arrived till the rooms were well filled. The efforts of the hosts in entertaining the large company left nothing to be desired. The supper was excellent in all its appointments. Whist, music and merriment made the evening hours flit fleetly forward, and the cheerful light of a young moon attended the homeward ride of those living at a distance.

Tuesday, Dec. 6th, Mrs. E. E. Walker will entertain the club.

Clifford Walker of South Chatham, N. H., is reported very ill of typhoid fever at his home. He was one of the party making search for Anne Dresser lost in the woods recently and the exposure is thought to have brought about the illness.

Saturday, Nov. 19th, the thermometer registered 2 below zero at sunrise in this place Monday, the 21st, was almost summerlike in temperature and the hard snow crust that for days gave security to the deer from the pursuit of the sportsman softens and departs under the genial sunshine and gentle winds. A ramble in the woods shows the ravages of the gales of Sunday, the 13th, many trees in exposed situations having been blown over or broken off by the force of the wind.

The spirit of Christmas invades the editorial sanctum long before December comes, and the Christmas magazines celebrate the holiday season with a specially liberal literary and artistic menu. Among the Christmas magazines The Booklovers will take a foremost place. It contains a varied and attractive array of literary contributions, and an unusual quantity of brilliant and artistic illustrations, many of them in color and tint.

We do job printing. We get cuts and engravings. They cost money but we can get the work done as cheaply as any one. Come in and talk it over or write us. We are always willing to quote prices.

HARRISON.

Way Beset with Obstacles.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Russell who left here Sunday, the 13th, had quite an experience. They reached Porter Sunday night, stayed there over night. The rain had turned to snow and about 14 inches covered the ground, but Mr. Russell pluckily harnessed his horse and started the wind blowing a gale. Telephone poles and broken wires were on all sides. In one place a large tree had blown down and obstructed the way, so he was obliged to unharness the horse to get by it. They reached East Wakefield Monday night, with a very tired horse. Tuesday morning they started again and reached Union before noon. There they got another team and proceeded to Middleton where they arrived tired but victorious.

Oscar Kneeland is to have a telephone in his house.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eaton were here recently, calling on old friends. They have lately lost their daughter Ethel, who left a large circle of friends in this vicinity.

Alice Quint, who has been staying here some time, went to her home in Brownfield to spend Thanksgiving, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Percy Stearns.

Alanson Davis went to Massachusetts to visit his son and daughter and attend the wedding of his grandson, Eugene Davis, which occurred Nov. 30th. His daughter, Mrs. Ada Flint, accompanied him as far as Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Straw have been visiting Mrs. Straw's brother, Moses Hastings at Bangor.

Mrs. N. E. Richardson spent Thanksgiving with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Stearns at Norway.

Mr. and Mrs. George Brownelle of Waterford recently visited Mrs. Brownelle's brother, Ira Jordan.

Charles H. Gates has bought the passenger, baggage and express business formerly carried on by Harry E. Plaisted.

Mrs. E. T. Russell has closed her summer home and gone to Brooklyn, N. Y., accompanied by her daughter Shirley and her sister, Mary Shirley.

George Stowell, eldest son of Elmer Stowell, was in the woods with his father and younger brother Earl. As Earl was cutting down a tree his ax caught on a twig, and glancing struck George in the hip, making a severe cut.

BROWNFIELD.

Schools about town are closed for a two weeks' vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Eli B. Bean have both been quite sick with colds.

Mrs. Mae Frink has gone to Bostou for a few weeks' visit among relatives.

Fred L. Farnham of Cushing is boarding a few weeks at Andrew Blake's before going South for the winter.

Mr. Bragg, the grammar school teacher, and wife will occupy Mrs. Julia Bean's cottage during the winter school.

A series of dramas are to be given by the Brownfield Dramatic club beginning Wednesday night. The proceeds will be used to purchase a piano for Bean Memorial school.

Shepard's River Lodge, F. & A. M., held a stated communication, Saturday evening, Nov. 19, followed by an oyster supper to which the ladies were invited. Among the guests from out of town were Rev. H. H. Hoyt and A. W. Sadler of Hiram, F. L. Farnham of Cushing, Joseph Hutchins and a number of others. A very pleasant social evening was enjoyed by all.

The Premature Boy.

Ever since the streams and rivers flowed through the land in the northern hemisphere, there have been many real bright and loveable boys who felt it their duty to be the first to go skating on the thin ice of early winter. How it has fared with many of these boys, most of us know to our sorrow. Soon after the first ice has formed and the boys have taken an early breakfast, an alarm has gone forth that one or more boys have broken through the thin ice, after which men and boys go out and grapple for the bodies. Then there is a most pathetic funeral with banks of flowers and sad schoolmates in attendance. It was all a mistake of course.

The boys who lost their lives were among the brightest and most beloved in the community. If they had been lunkheads and cowards, the chances are they would have stayed at home and been preserved. But being bright and venturesome, they took the risk and paid the dearest of all prices—their sweet young lives.

Sometimes we think that a wise Creator permitted the best boys to go hence after this manner in order to allow us dullards to grow up, thus preventing the human race from progressing too fast. Be that as it may, we cannot watch the brave lads too closely at this time of year. It is next to useless to talk to them. If they are punished, it works no cure, for the next day they are back at the old sport. From now on until the fresh water ice is two inches or more in thickness, eternal vigilance is the price of saving the young rascals.

Teachers of Schools—Is It True?

Has the dial on the clock turned back a hundred years or so? Have parents adopted the one name plan for their children as was in vogue in their great-grandfather's day? We think not.

Hattie M. Leach taught in the Porter district primary, South Paris, and 9 of the 18 pupils had double names as reported in last week's ADVERTISER, 26 in the Shurtleff primary have only one name and the same holds true in the fifth and sixth grade. Some 37 whose names are reported too as being on the roll of honor for attendance.

We don't think for a moment but each of these 37 have two "front names" and in the report referred to should have been given. These omissions are from carelessness or a fad, which should not receive the countenance from any teacher in any school anywhere.

They should be known by the name as given them by their parents—that's their legal name, and parents, school committees and superintendents should insist that the records be made up that way—and those who are entitled to have their name in the local papers should have their legal name appear, viz:—Chas. H. Smith not Charlie Smith, Lulu I. Dawes not Lulu Dawes.

We wish teachers would bear this in mind in reporting to us their lists—we want the lists of names of those who are entitled to have them appear but we want the legal names of the children.

Just glance at your printed school papers and see the liberties taken with names. Parents, teachers and school officers should call a halt on this and insist that the legal name of the children be used when it is to be printed.

The report of the Norway schools as appears in this week's paper gives no middle names. It's wrong simply because it does not give the legal names of the children.

Agent Arrested For Violating Contract Labor Law.

Douglass M. Frazer of Beverly, Mass., was brought to Augusta, Saturday, Nov. 19, on a charge of violation of the alien contract labor laws, by bringing a party of 13 men into the United States from Halifax, N. S.

Frazer represented that he was an agent of the Milton Mining Co., who are operating a gold, silver and copper mine on Milton plantation, about seven miles from Rumford Falls, and that he secured the men at Montague mines, near Halifax, N. S.

When arrested, he was on his way from the provinces to Portland, with the men.

On appearing before the United States Commissioner, Saturday forenoon, Frazer pleaded guilty, and was held in the sum of $1000 for the December term of the United States District court at Portland.

The four witnesses were ordered to recognize in the sum of $300 each, and they with Frazer, were committed in default of bail.

The Voice That Is Still.

The music of stream and of bird
Shall come back when the winter is o'er,
But the voice that was dearest to us may be heard
In our desolate home no more.

EAST HEBRON.

Colds are busy among us just now.

Charles Decoster and family passed Thanksgiving in Hartford with his daughter.

Edwin Allen had his hog killed Saturday. It tipped the scales at 350. a last spring pig.

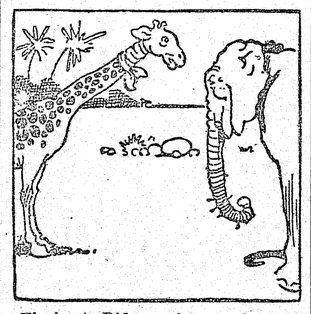
A Thanksgiving sociable with a drama was appointed for that evening in the Grange hall.

Dr. N. Marshall has had the ground prepared to build the coming spring, a house a short distance from the family home of many years.

Rev. Mr. Kelly refuses to reconsider his resignation and will leave here the first of December. The society regret his decision very much. Sunday he was in South Falmouth and an evangelist occupied the pulpit in his absence.

The November number of the Portland Board of Trade Journal is devoted to Brunswick, Maine's largest town, of interest to us through the large number of Oxford County boys who have attended Bowdoin, Maine's largest college. So far as our observation goes the Journal's editions are by far the best souvenirs that have been published for the towns they cover, and they show to the best advantage the facilities as a business center of each town. The avowed purpose of the Journal is to cover each town which had a board of trade in the State.

His Long Illness.



Elephant—Did you have a long illness.

As We Remember Him.

C. M. Rice of Portland died in that city, Nov. 19th, aged 73 years.

Mr. Rice was president of the C. M. Rice Paper Co. with whom we have had pleasant business relation baring one instance for over 22 years. The following from the Argus to our mind is true to life of Mr. Rice:—

"He was a silent, reserved man who seemed almost moody to those who did not know him well. He was slow of speech and quiet in manner, never ruffled himself and possessing a marvellous, almost hypnotic power over men who were enraged or excited beyond the point of self-control. He was strictly honest in every dealing of his life and was emphatically a good citizen, a successful business man."

We recall an instance of a mix-up over a considerable quantity of news stock that had come in made wrong and which we could not use. In the adjustment our patience, which is never great, became exhausted. We flew to the telephone and poured out our feelings with relentless freedom, loading the wire down with all the cutting, defamatory and heavy words then at our command. Mr. Rice was at the other end and he talked back so calm and considerate and apparently so unruffled that we hung the receiver up in disgust, wondering what manner of man he could be. A few days later we were in the store and went over the matter with him. We expressed our mind with decided emphasis and closed business relations with the firm then and there. He was the same undisturbed, calm and unruffled man as when talking over the telephone.

We recall in substance what he said, "We'll make it right and satisfactory to you—it's not our mistake—however, we'll help you out of it; we'll do the best we can as quickly as we can and keep you supplied with paper in the mean time and that's all we can do, or anybody can do. I'm sorry you feel that way, Mr. Sanborn, and we shall regret to lose your trade."

This is the only instance of any rupture in the twenty odd years of business. We can truthfully say it has never been our pleasure to deal with a more thoroughly honest or conscientious man. We regret that our business relation with him now ceases, not that we shall not deal with the house that he founded, but with him personally the end has come.

NORTH PARIS.

Remembered Their Teacher.

School in the Tuell district closed, Nov. 18th, with exercises by the scholars. This is the second term taught here by Inez Swift, who has proved an excellent teacher. The following scholars were not absent a day for the term: Iona Littlehale, Wilma, Edith and Lorenzo Littlehale, Alfred Andrews, Ora Field, Keith Field, Doris Field and Mary Elwell. Doris Field, 6 years old, did not miss a word in spelling for the term. The scholars made their teacher a present of a photograph album, with which she was much pleased, as it showed their appreciation of her as a teacher.

There was an all day meeting of West Paris Grange, Nov. 12th, with a musical programme consisting of music by the choir and selections on the phonograph by F. L. Wyman. An excellent dinner was served.

WEEDS

Consumption is a human weed flourishing best in weak lungs. Like other weeds it's easily destroyed while young; when old, sometimes impossible.

Strengthen the lungs as you would weak land, and the weeds will disappear.

The best lung fertilizer is Scott's Emulsion. Salt pork is good too, but it is very hard to digest.

The time to treat consumption is when you begin trying to hide it from yourself. Others see it, you won't.

Don't wait until you can't deceive yourself any longer. Begin with the first thought to take Scott's Emulsion. If it isn't really consumption so much the better; you will soon forget it and be better for the treatment. If it is consumption you can't expect to be cured at once, but if you will begin in time and will be rigidly regular in your treatment you will win.

Scott's Emulsion, fresh air, rest all you can, eat all you can, that's the treatment and that's the best treatment.

We will send you a little of the Emulsion free.

Be sure that this picture in the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

KILLS CATARRH GERMS.
Breathe Hyomei and Be Cured of Catarrh
Costs Nothing if It Fails.
Breathe Hyomei for a few minutes four times a day, through the pocket inhaler that comes with outfit, and benefit will be seen at once. Continue this treatment for a short time and your catarrh will have been killed by Hyomei.
There is no roundabout way in Hyomei's medicinal action; it does not have to cure a disease of the head by passing medicine in the stomach. It flies with you breathe with balsamic healing, soothes the irritated and smarting membrane, destroys the germs of catarrh that are present in the head and throat and is the only treatment that can be relied upon to cure.
When using Hyomei the air you breathe will be like that on the mountains high above the sea level, filled with volatile, antiseptic fragrance that heals and cures the irritated mucous membrane of the air passages.
This treatment has been so successful in curing 99 per cent. of all who have used it, that Hyomei is now sold by your Drug Store under an absolute guarantee to refund the money if it does not cure or benefit. You run no risk whatever in buying Hyomei. If it does not possess the healing powers to cure, it could not be sold upon this plan.
The complete Hyomei outfit consists of and comprises a hard rubber inhaler, a bottle of Hyomei and a dropper. The inhaler will last a lifetime; additional bottles of Hyomei can be obtained for 50c.

KILLS CATARRH GERMS.

Breathe Hyomei and Be Cured of Catarrh. Costs Nothing If It Fails.

Breathe Hyomei for a few minutes four times a day, through the neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, and benefit will be seen at once. Continue this treatment for a short time, and your catarrh will have been cured by Hyomei.

There is no roundabout way in Hyomei's medicinal action; it does not try to cure a disease of the head by putting medicine in the stomach. It fills the air you breathe with balsamic healing, that soothes the irritated and smarting membrane, destroys the germs of catarrh that are present in the head and throat, and is the only treatment that can be relied upon to cure.

When using Hyomei the air you breathe will be like that on the mountains high above the sea level, filled with volatile, antiseptic fragrance that heals and cures the irritated mucous membrane of the air passages.

This treatment has been so successful, curing 95 per cent. of all who have used it, that Hyomei is now sold by Noyes Drug Store under an absolute guarantee to refund the money if it does not benefit. You run no risk whatever in buying Hyomei. If it does not possess unusual powers to cure, it could not be sold upon this plan.

The complete Hyomei outfit costs $1.00 and comprises a hard rubber inhaler, a bottle of Hyomei and a dropper. The inhaler will last a lifetime; and additional bottles of Hyomei can be obtained for 50c.

Besieged.

The cold wind journeys southward from the North,
Each morn the ground is frozen, white and still,
For winter's cruel legions issue forth
From arctic caves of ice and regions chill.
Insatiate they gather, countless hordes,
Bombard our weak defences fore and aft,
Or silently besiege us, oh my lords,
Our water-works are taken. Icy crafts,
Whole fleets of ice and frost now have control
Of every brooklet, river, lake and pond,
And pouring swift thro crevice, crack and hole
Advance guards rush about us and beyond.
Out-numbered and out-generaled we fight,
With weapons of fire we strive to break their clasp,
Until the snow falls silently and white,
And Winter holds us helpless in his grasp.

SOMETHING EVERY WOMAN SHOULD KNOW.

Are You the One Woman Neglecting a Mother's or a Wife's Duty, or Are There Countless Thousands.

Many women formerly full of robust vigor, with clear complexions and bright, vivacious spirits find themselves slowly losing their good looks and strength, fading under the influence of an unknown cause, ignorant of their real condition. Just when a woman should be at her best she becomes depressed, fretful, nervous. And why? You ask. She has been so busy planning, has been so absorbed with her social duties, her work has been so continuous, that she scarcely allowed herself a moment's relaxation. She has neglected her health and, where her food formerly seemed to nourish, now she has but little appetite and even what she does eat does not seem to do any good. If you should ask her what the trouble is, she would say, "I am just tired out." But the real cause is constipation and its resulting condition—bad blood. Just think what habitual neglect of the bowels means, sickness instead of good health; nervousness instead of vigor; cheerfulness replaced by depression, happiness by misery. A week's use of Smith's Pineapple and Butternut Pills in these cases will work wonders. They will regulate the functions of the liver and bowels, immediately unload the congestion, cure the constipation and cleanse the blood of impurities. It is pitiable to see women with no color in their cheeks, without ambition, always tired, with the exuberance and vivacity of youth sapped as by some dreaded vampire, just because nature has been neglected, the bowels have come sluggish and poisonous elements have been absorbed into the blood. Keep the bowels regular by using Smith's Pineapple and Butternut Pills. Never allow constipation or a torpid liver to develop. A stitch in time will save mountains of misery, of bad feelings and depression. These little pills are wonderful health givers. They are Nature's true laxative and a positive cure for sick headache, constipation and biliousness in one night. 25 cents at all dealers.

HARRISON, MAINE. 13tf

Capt. Merrill's First Circus, as Related by Himself.

Capt. Frank P. Merrill sells paper for John Carter & Co. of Boston. He has been doing this for the past twenty years or more. When last here he told the following true to life story:—

"When I was a boy I lived on a farm the other side of Steaked Mountain. My brother and I while picking blueberries on the mountain, one summer day, found a nice pair of field glasses. We knew they must belong to some army officer. This might have been in the summer of 1863 or 4, or later. I can't just say. We boys made inquiry in the neighborhood and tried to find the owner, but no one seemed to know who they belonged to. We were for a whole year the proud possessors of a real pair of military officers' field glasses. We could look far away and scan the horizon that hemmed us in. We undoubtedly were envied by some of our less fortunate neighbors, though the glasses were at times loaned them on special occasions and it was pretty generally understood how we got them, yet no one put up any claim of ownership.

"It ran along this way until the next year. I remember it as that year there were no blueberries on the mountain; a late frost in early summer had ruined the crop. Money was more than ordinarily 'tight' in that section, especially so in our family; we simply hadn't any.

"Now, just what should come along but Van Amburg's Great Golden Menagerie and Hippodrome Shows and Circus all combined. We hadn't a penny, and a whole dollar couldn't be raked up in that little settlement the other side of Streaked Mountain in Buckfield, Me.

"Oh! my, such flaring and flaming posters! They decorated the broad sides of barns and outhouses and were magnificent to look at. The show was to be at Paris Hill. The elephant, the camel and the giraffe, the caged lions and tigers—we boys must go—we had no money and there was none to be had—the blueberry crop had failed.

"Could we crawl under the canvass? I guess not. There was only one way to go, and that was to follow the straight and narrow path that led up to the ticket taker at the tent door. To crawl under the canvass wouldn't be countenanced. It would be dishonest and wrong. You see we lived eight miles from Paris Hill, and to walk that distance was out of the question unless we were pretty sure of gaining honorable admittance. The country boys weren't up to the trick of crawling under the tent at that time.

"Father overheard us boys talking the matter over and he said: 'Frank, I think if you would take those field glasses you found on the mountain over to Col. W. K. Kimball at Paris Hill he'll give you money enough for them to take you into the show. I've recently heard it said those glasses belonged to him.'

"New light dawned on us. New and radiant hopes sprang up to cheer our dark pathway. We'd try it.

"Circus day finally came. It was a beautiful morning in mid-summer and with the early singing of the birds we had on our best clothes—they were not any too good or handsome, either, and with some of mother's best cookies in our pockets we started on our tramp over the eight mile road to the capital of Oxford County. The field-glasses were carefully tied up in paper and hitched to me with a string, for with them we expected to obtain the money necessary for admission to the show.

"If Col. Kimball should be away; or if the glasses were not his; or if his, he should take them and turn us out a cordial 'I thank you,' backed up with a good story about our honesty, what should we do? These thoughts filled our minds continually as we trugded up the rough but shady road that leads to Paris Hill, which at that time was the biggest settlement we had ever seen. In fact we had not seen it, we had heard about it.

"Would he pay us any money?.

"The town was alive with people, they were swarming like Uncle Elihu's bees everywhere. The big tent was up, there were horses, carts and chariots there. It was something terribly grand, but would he (Mr. Kimball) let us have any money? We were strangers in this metropolis and everything was strange to us. The sidewalks, the well-kept green lawns, the painted houses, the court buildings and the church with a bell and a clock on it were almost too much for us. Where could we find Col. Kimball and would he let us have some money were constantly in our minds as we wandered about the streets.

"A low, one-story small building setting out alone from all others was pointed out to us as the office of Mr. Kimball. It almost took our breath away as we started towards it. Would he be there and how would he receive us? Should we knock at the door or go straight in!

"About that time we saw some one come out or the building and we walked in hats in hand. Col. Kimball was sitting beside a large cross-legged table and was alone. He bowed very courteously to us as I laid the bundle on the table and unwrapped it. What I said I don't know. I suppose I asked him if that was his. He picked them up slowly and looked them over and said 'Yes, my wife lost those glasses on Streaked Mountain last year. Where did you get them?'

"We told him all about it boy fashion, carefully concealing as best we could our want of money for a reward.

"The great Colonel' and he really looked great to me, ran his fingers into his vest pocket and fished out a bill and carelessly glanced at it and handed it to me.

"It was a $2.00 bill. Just think of it—two whole dollars! More money than we had ever possessed at one time in our life.

"Van Amburg's Great Show was there Hippodrome and all and circus, too.

"Charles and I felt we could buy the whole outfit. Never been so rich since, no never!

"We wouldn't trust ourselves to have it broken at the circus ticket office for fear of being robbed. We got it changed at a store. We took in the show and saw everything and bought everything, even a present for father, mother and the rest of the family.

"I've never seen another show that equalled that one on Paris Hill long years ago."

The recital was ended and the captain was handed a fresh cigar. He drew a long breath and wiped the iron-bound spectacles that rested on the lower end of his nose. A far-away look stole around his face under his snow-white locks.

No doubt he was thinking of the winter spent in Buckfield when his father was at the front with Burdan's sharpshooters, and he and his good mother kept the little flock alive on hope, snowballs and frozen potatoes.

We sat in silence for a spell and changed the subject to Harry Parker of Bradford, Vt., and his new typesetting machine.

Col. Wm. K. Kimball referred to was the big military man of Paris Hill. He was a lawyer by profession. He went into the army as Lieut-Colonel of the 12th Maine and was promoted to Colonel in 1862 and was mustered out in 1866 as Brevet Brigadier General. He was clerk of courts of Oxford County for some years and was U. S. District Marshal and it fell to his lot to be the hangman of Cox and Williams at Auburn jail. This we think was the last public hanging done in the state. He held several government offices of more or less importance. He had a son, Wm. W. Kimball, who is an officer in the U. S. Navy and who had command of a torpedo boat destroyer in the Spanish war of '98.

No Poison in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

From Napier, New Zealand, Herald:—Two years ago the Pharmacy Board of New South Wales, Australia, had an analysis made of all the cough medicines that were sold in that market. Out of the entire list they found only one that they declared was entirely free from all poisons. This exception was Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, made by the Chamberlain Medicine Company, Des Moines, Iowa, U. S. A. The absence of all narcotics makes this remedy the safest and best that can be had; and it is with a feeling of security that any mother can give it to her little ones. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is especially recommended by its makers for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. When taken in time it prevents pneumonia. This remedy is for sale by Noyes Drug Store; Shurtleff's, South and West Paris. 46 49

The ball on Thanksgiving eve was given under the auspices of the Ellis Glen Assembly of Sisters. There were about 50 couples. A fine supper of salads, cold meats, cake and pastry was served. Fine music by Andover Orchestra. A fine time is reported.

Lone Mt. Grange held a meeting, Saturday, Nov. 26. It was an all day meeting. Barbara Cushman as captain of the side which was defeated in the contest gave a treat. The dinner consisted of oyster stew, baked beans, pastry, apples, candy, popcorn balls. Then an entertainment consisting of a farce, "Our Country Aunt," which was finely acted, Mrs. Philip Hoyt as "Aunt" Peabody; essay by Mrs. Hervey Hall, vocal solos by Agnes Talbot and Emma Glines. Everything passed off most successfully. In two weeks will occur election of officers.

Rev. Samuel Holden preached a fine sermon, text I Tim. 4:4-6. The Greek, Roman and Christian ideas of religion. The Greek, "Know thyself;" Roman, "Control thyself;" Christian, "Deny thyself." It was well written, full of thought and listened to very attentively. Y. P. S. C. E. at 7 p. m., leader, Arabella M. Eliot; subject—Intemperance, a hindrance to business. This society voted to pay a certain sum towards the pastor's salary, also to devote a certain part to the benefit of the choir.

BETHEL.

Visitors and Visiting.

Thanksgiving has come and gone again with its home gatherings, family reunions, etc. But one feature in the annual recurrences has of necessity become changed. That is our "national bird" for the dinner table on that occasion. It annually becomes more nearly impossible to obtain one. A very few Bethelites made the attempt the past week to get one. The chicken, duck and goose come in as substitutes.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Park and daughter Muriel went to Paris and took Thanksgiving dinner with Mrs. P.'s parents. Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Grover went to Oxford, Thursday, and spent the day with Prof. E. H. Pratt and wife. E. S. Kilborn and wife went to Paris, Thursday.

Harry Mason and sister Fannie went to Portland last Thursday, also T. F. Hastings and wife. Mrs. Bisbee went to Boston to visit her daughter Helen, who is attending school there. Harry Purington, Eddie Harvey and Harry Carter came home to Thanksgiving.

Mercury at 0 Tuesday morning, and cloudy.

Wallie Wight, who has been sick with pneumonia, is slowly recovering.

Mrs. Charles Swan of North Bethel died of pneumonia last Wednesday, having been sick less than a week.

The grocery store on Main street so long run under the Bryant name is now under the firm name of C. C. Bryant & Son.

H. B. Clough and wife returned to Portsmouth, N. H., last Friday, where he has a fine position in the navy yard. He has been in Bethel nearly all summer laid up with a lame knee, which is now nearly well.

E. B. Goddard, 88 years of age, has been out on the street during some of the warm days of late. Mr. Goddard says the first presidential ballot he carried was for William H. Harrison in 1840 and he has voted at every presidential election since. Uncle Ephraim McKeen, 90 years of age, voted for Roosevelt at the late election, saying that he wanted to vote for president once more and that it might be the last opportunity. "Uncle Ned" Robertson, who is also 90 years of age, did not get out to vote. He is confined pretty closely to the house.

ALBANY.

Valley Road.

Many deer are being secured in town.

O. A. Saunders has been on the sick list.

C. G. Beckler has bought a pair of work horses.

Harry Bird of Portland spent a few days in town recently.

W. I. Beckler had the misfortune to cut his left hand quite badly.

Lewis Holton of Derry, N. H., with his wife and child have been visiting in town.

Newton Moore is as well, if not a little better. He walked out in the yard one day lately.

Barton Smith of Bethel, Mrs. G. E. Grover's nephew, has received his appointment as substitute mail clerk.

Round Mountain Grange presented Mr. and Mrs. James Flint with an easy chair for each. The presentation was made by Worthy Master W. I. Beckler. They were charter members and richly deserve this token from their sister and brother patrons. The occasion was the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding.

Herbert Wheeler shot two deer, Thursday.

Herbert Bean was successful in getting a deer and two partridges during his vacation.

William McNally has left home to work as fireman on the Grand Trunk Railroad.

Joe Carter who has spent two weeks at his home in Lovell has returned to work for Abel Andrews.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert I. Bean and two children, Bertie and Jennie, of Lewiston visited relatives and friends in town, last week.

Arthur Andrews who has attended school at Gould's Academy during the fall term is spending a vacation of two weeks at home.

An entertainment was given to the town's people at the vestry, Tuesday evening 22 inst., by the teachers and pupils of the Town House, Clark and Hunt's Corner school districts. Much credit is due to the teachers.

WEST BETHEL.

Herbert Mason and family have moved to Portland.

Bertie Briggs recently visited his sister at South Paris.

Sewall Walker has been in this vicinity for a short time.

C. P. Valentine has a nice fur coat which he recently sent and got.

Herbert Mason came up from Portland and spent a few days with his family.

Mrs. Harry Seely is at the Maine General hospital in Portland for treatment.

E. J. Bell and family ate Thanksgiving dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Vashaw.

Robert Spiller of Shelburne, N. H., has been stopping a few days with friends in this village.

D. D. Fletcher and family spent Thanksgiving with their daughter, Mrs. Lula Lane at West Paris.

Frank Goodnow and little daughters of Gorham, N. H., were here at dinner Thanksgiving day with his parents.

Len Sumner and Henry Perkins are cutting spruce pulp wood on land of George Goodnow for W. C. Chapman.

A. P. Mason and son Millard have quite a lot of birch hauled out ready to deliver to the mill as soon as sledding is good.

Gladys Kennagh is here stopping with her parents. She expects to stay all winter as her husband is at work in the woods.

E. P. Philbrook and daughter went to Lewiston and spent Thanksgiving with Mr. Philbrook's daughter, Mrs. Thomas Sclater, and family.

Grace Farwell will finish her term of school in Albany this week. She has taught both summer and fall terms, giving good satisfaction to both parents and scholars.

Lottie Mason, who has been home on her vacation, has returned to Randolph, N. H., to teach the winter term of school at the same place where she taught the fall term.

Grace Mills, who has taught the summer and fall terms of school on Bird Hill in Bethel, will soon return there to commence the winter term. Miss Mills is a young teacher but is meeting with fine success.

BUCKFIELD.

Reciprocity.

There was something of the principle of reciprocity exemplified around the village, Thanksgiving. A. T. Cole entertained Dr. Caldwell's family other relatives.

A very quiet day with nothing to mar.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Prince were in Waterville, with their children.

J. F. Packard and wife were guests of their daughter, at Good Will Farm.

Dr. Heald's family were at the Doctor's father at North Buckfield, Joshua Heald.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Heath of West Sumner were guests of their daughter, Mrs. T. H. Lunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Record, old people, are quite poorly.

Luther Irish and Lizzie Writhington by report are to be married this Wednesday, Nov. 30.

Lewis, Luther and Allen Irish sons of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Irish were at home from their several places of busines, Thanksgiving day.

J. H. Carey of Salem, Mass. came to his daughter's wife of Dr. Heald Tuesday, owing to the death of William Cressey of that place. The remains are to be brought here, Mr. Cressey formerly belonged at North Buckfield.

The house reported burned in Buckfield, belonging to John Thurlow, was in the eastern section of Hartford. A hot old time they had to save the house, water ran short and a load of cream was utilized. A carpenter of this place Daniel Murch at work on the house became dazed and had to be taken by force.

A session of Buckfield grange was recently held at Nezinscot Hall. Past Master R. D. Leavitt of Turner grange was present to whom U. M. Parsons turned over the gavel, he conducting the initiation of several in the second degree. Mr. Leavitt is also chairman of the state executive committee. He He gave them a good talk on past and present benefits derived from the grange. A reading by Mrs. Bell Nulty and other entertainments followed as did an abnndance of viands, but how about the dreams of those permitted to sleep?

NORTH NORWAY.

When Thanksgiving Time Is Over

When Thanksgiving time is over,
And the chilly days crowd by,
When the early sunset falling
Tints with gold the Western sky,
There'll be memories in the twilight
Of the dear ones far away,
As they sat around the table
With us on Thanksgiving day.

We shall seem to see their faces,
Youthful faces fair and dear,
See the smiles of little children,
Hear their laughter ringing clear,
See sweet aged faces beaming
Benedictions on our way,
And we wonder, will they linger
'Till the next Thanksgiving day.

When Thanksgiving time is over,
Day of joy and merry jest,
Hallowed hours of glad reunion
Spent with those we love the best;
We will treasure up the sweetness,
Hold home memories ever dear,
And give thanks for all the blessings,
That have crowned the fruitful year.

When Thanksgiving time is over
And we go our separate ways,
There'll be pleasant memories thronging,
That will cheer the lonely days
Like a light among the shadows,
Touching life with tender grace.
Comes the memory of Thanksgiving,
And of each familiar face.

South Paris, Me. JULIA E. ABBOTT.

NORTH WATERFORD.

Age Has Few Terrors for Them.

"Uncle" Daniel Lebroke and "Aunt" Nancy ate their Thanksgiving dinner with their daughter, Mrs. Sewell Abbott. They are both hale and hearty at the ripe age of eighty-eight, and bid fair to round the century mark.

George W. Hobson, a neighbor of this good old couple, is the same age, and can do a days work with many a young man. Not long since at a dance "Uncle" Hobson stepped out a polka with all the grace of youth.

Putting Water in the Barn.

KEZAR FALLS.

Drew the Bow the Last Time.

Died in Porter village, Nov. 25, King Colbroth, aged eighty-seven. He was a good musician, and although very hard of hearing for many years, found much solace in his beloved violin. He drew the bow over the strings for the last time on Thanksgiving day, dying very suddenly the day following. He left no immediate relatives, his wife and widowed daughter having preceded him many yeats to "that country from whose bourne no traveller returns." Services were held at the residence of Mrs. Amos Blazo, where he had made his home of late years, last Sunday afternoon. The services were conducted by Rev. H. A. Peare, who also assisted the M. E. choir in singing some beautiful selections. The violin was placed in the casket with him, so that in death he was not parted from the friend whose sweet strains had so often cheered his lonely hours.

R. F. Wormwood of Biddeford, spent Thanksgiving day with his family at this place.

Elwood E. Elliott has been confined to the house for three weeks through a rheumatic trouble.

HARRISON.

A Pleasant and Quiet Day.

Thanksgiving day passed quietly. There were the usual pleasant family gatherings.

At A. F. Davis', there were four generations at the dinner table, Mrs. Marie Davis aged 74 years, her son, Albert F. Davis, his son, Ernest L. Davis and his little granddaughter Marion E., aged eight months.

Several of the young people here attended the drama at Bolster's Mills on Thanksgiving evening and pronounced it very good indeed.

May Whitney has returned from Canton where she has been teaching.

Katherine O'Donnell of Lewiston is visiting Mildred Dudley.

Pearl Rogers of Portland spent Thanksgiving with her aunt, Mrs. Meda Davis.

Marshall Pitts was called to Union on Wednesday by the illness of his brother who recently went there to live, but returned on Saturday leaving his brother better.

The funeral of Mrs. Frank Stone occurred on Wednesday, the 23d, at her late residence, attended by Rev. F. E. Winn. The Rebekahs of which Mrs. Stone was a member attended in a body.

Mrs. White, widow of the late Edward White, died Wednesday night. She had been blind for several years and was 82 years of age. Mr. and Mrs. White came from Sebago, but had lived many years in Harrison. Funeral services were held Saturday at the residence of her son, Leander White. Interment at Bridgton.

There was a concert by local talent at the Free Baptist church on Friday evening. There were several fine selections by the orchestra which consisted of Rev. E. Whitman and Dr. E. A. Wight, violins; Fred Gibbs, clarinet; F. W. Walker, bass viol and Mrs. F. W. Walker, pianist. F. W. Walker and Jessie Ricker sang a duet; Mrs. Cora Dennison sang a solo and a quartet of ladies gave the humorous song Peter Piper. Readings were by J. B. Pike, esq. It was a matter of regret that there was ao small an audience to listen to the unusually good concert.

SOUTH HARRISON.

Family Gathering.

A family gathering was held at the residence of Josiah Strout on Thanksgiving day to the number of twenty-one as follows: Benj. Strout, who lives with his son Josiah, aged 85 years, and his three sons, Josiah, Bela and Samuel, and their wives; his daughter, Viola Gerry, and her husband; Mrs. Berry, another daughter; Mr. and Mrs. Luther Edwards; grandchildren, Mrs. Warren Flagg and husband, Mrs. Geo. There will be John O. Hartford with one yoke of oxen; Prentiss Fogg with two yokes, Allie Pendexter with one yoke, Arthur Johnson with pair of horses and some others.

MASON.

A Bear Hunt.

A large bear crossed A. G. Lovejoy's pasture one evening recently, and his track was discovered by Fred Lovejoy, who was hunting in that vicinity the next day. He soon notified Elbridge and Henry Merrill of the discovery and the three men started on bruin's trail to try to overtake him or run him to his den. The bear led them a chase over the side of Tyler mountain and through the valley back of the Blanchard settlement and over the Polly mountain. It was growing dark and being so far from home they gave up the chase for that day, after following him for a number of miles. They returned home about 8.30 o'clock at night, tired and hungry.

Mrs. E. C. Uhlman is quite sick.

Elden Mills returned home last week.

A Surprise.

Friends and relatives to the number of sixty gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph F. Stone, Monday evening, and gave them quite a surprise, bringing with them wedding gifts that the evening might have a significance. Good music was furnished, appetizing refreshments were served, and without regard to shortness of time in their preparation, it must be acknowledged that Mr. and Mrs. Stone are royal entertainers.

We think however that credit should be given also to the mother and sisters of the groom, who, with the assistance of the nearest neighbor, had everything planned in detail, and saw to it that everyone enjoyed himself.

Caleb Winslow is gaining slowly.

Levi Robinson is somewhat better.

Otis Smith of Edes Falls is at work for Frank Sawyer.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my grateful appreciation of the many acts of kindness which were bestowed on me during my recent bereavement in the loss of my beloved wife. To the pastor for his words of consolation, to the choir for their assistance, to all neighbors and friends, who so nobly responded and gave aid and sympathy in my hours of sorrow, I would express my sincere thanks.

ANNANIAS MCALLISTER.

EAST STONEHAM.

Sudden Deaths.

Died in East Stoneham, Nov. 26, Mrs. Edith Merrill, wife of James B. Merrill, aged about 18 years. Her death was very sudden. She leaves a husband, a son 1½ years of age, a father, brothers and sisters to mourn her early loss.

Died in Albany, Nov. 22, Mrs. Mary McAllister, wife of Ananias McAllister, aged 51 years and 16 days. Her death was quite sudden but not wholly unexpected, as she had been a great sufferer for several years from dropsy. Mrs. McAllister was a worthy and kind hearted woman, ever ready to aid the sick and afflicted so long as her health would permit, and won the esteem of all who knew her by her many good qualities. Funeral at her late residence on Thanksgiving afternoon. Mr. McAllister will probably close his house and board with some of his relatives.

Several deer have been shot.

There was a large gathering of relatives at C. F. Small's, Thanksgiving day.

Many people have had bad colds. Mrs. Mary A. Stearns has been confined to the house with a severe cold on her lungs for the past three weeks and others have been sick.

Alvah M. Andrews and son of South Woodstock were in town last Saturday. Alvah visited the municipal court room for a few minutes and made us a pleasant call, while his son inspected the interior of the printing office. I. W. Andrews & Son do a big business. Last year they attended 182 funerals and made and sold over one thousand caskets.

An effort will be made during the coming legislature to secure an appropriation for the Old Ladies' Home at Norway. Just how much will be asked for is not at the present time known, but it will not be an excessively large amount and it is believed that there will be no opposition to it. The home is a most worthy institution and all classes in the county are contributing to its support. At the present time there are eight inmates. An appropriation by the State would greatly aid the home.

Walter I. Becker and wife of Albany visited in Norway Wednesday of last week.

Charles Bartlett of New Auburn was a guest of his father, L. I. Bartlett, last week.

Annie C. Bagley's class donated a basket of fruit to the Home for Aged Women, Thanksgiving.

George P. Locke of Portland, and his family, came Thanksgiving to spend a few days with his parents, George W. Locke and wife.

Dr. William Albee spent Thanksgiving with his parents in Lewiston. He left town for Philadelphia, where he is to take postgraduate dental course.

Prof. Charles B. Thompson, principal of the high school, is spending vacation at his home in Attleboro, Mass. Prof. Percival E. Hathaway is spending a portion of the vacation in Boston.

Arthur E. Morrison, Mrs. Morrison and sons, Robley and Freeland, were the guests of Freeland Howe and wife, several days last week, including Thanksgiving. Robley Morrison has been obliged to leave his school duties on account of difficulties with his eyes, which has necessitated taking a complete rest.

Irving Thibodeau who is attending Burdett college, Lynn, came home for Thanksgiving and is spending a few days at home. Nelson McAllister of the same school is home for vacation.

It is a fact. Nine out of ten who have the Three-Times-a-Week World like the paper. It's as good as a daily—156 papers for the year—it gives you all the general news of the world and with the ADVERTISER you have the local news. What more do you want? Combined price $2.20 cash with the order. Sample copy of both papers furnished on application to this office.

Information Wanted

About the Norway Public Library.

MR. EDITOR:—Why don't you open a People's Column in your paper for the convenience of your numerous readers, where we can be sure of getting information that is otherwise denied to us? My present thirst for information is concerning the "narrow gauge" system upon which the Norway Public Library is being run.

My mother, Mrs. Emily Whitman, owns a home that is situated partly in Norway and partly in Oxford. The building site lies in the two towns, but unfortunately the buildings are a few feet across the line into Oxford. That part of the land which is in Norway, she pays town and corporation taxes on. Her post-office address is Norway; she does all her trading and business in Norway.

She has had a card from your Public Library thinking she was duly entitled to same, and has taken books therefrom for several years and no fault found. The irregularity of "non-residents" holding library cards was considered by the trustees and Mr. Smith took my mother's card away from her. She wrote him the state of affairs, thinking he would correct the injustice when he knew the facts of the case. That was several weeks ago and she has not had the courtesy of an answer yet.

Another case under the new "regime" is that of a young man who works in the shoe shop. His poll tax is paid up to April '05. A while back he was out of town about six weeks and when he came back went to the home of relatives about 50 ft. across the Norway town line into an adjoining town. Will probably be keeping house in Norway village before the new year, rent all engaged, etc.

His card and his wife's card were "snatched" from them in the same peremptory manner that Mrs. W's was. He was a non-resident. Now does not a poll tax imply a residence wherever it is paid? Does an absence of three or four months cause a man to lose a residence in a town? The same man might have voted in Norway for the President of the United States, but he mustn't touch their library books. He went to the same Mr. Smith and and explained and expostulated, but was calmly told that he was a non-resident and not entitled to the use of library books. That it would establish a most detrimental precedent, etc.

If there are any more such cases it ought to establish a precedent, for it is a very unjust ruling it seems to me.

Now Mr. Editor, if you had an Answer to Correspondents column in your paper you could tell me perhaps if it was the intention of the founders of the Norway library to have it run on such niggardly, ungenerous lines.

CORA M. W. GREENLEAF.

We know of no way of getting round the decision of the board of library trustees other than to take the matter before the town in town meeting.—[Ed.

Grange Not a Graveyard.

The grange is not a graveyard, remarks an exchange. It is intended to be a live assemblage. It has a ritual that may be made attractive if properly rendered, and it gives the members a chance to discuss important matters relating to their work. Keep up the interest, which is the life of the grange.

There are a good many young people at home at this season from school and college, and it will give variety to the grange programme if they are given something to do. Young men from the agricultural college can make themselves very helpful in the grange.

The Grange Mutual Fire Insurance company of Troy, Pa., on Jan. 1, 1904, carried insurance amounting to $2,116,989, divided among 1,231 members. An assessment of 2 mills paid all losses in 1903.

The grange has in more than one instance brought into harmony inharmonious church members.

There should be more attention given to the organization of juvenile granges.

Education is the chief cornerstone of the grange superstructure.

"The King Fisher."

This is the name given John A. Woodman's log cabin or camp by the lake. It was christened some time this fall and a sign bearing that name has been painted.

Mr. Woodman has made extensive and expensive improvements on his lake property. An ice and water break-wall 280 feet long with an average height of 5 feet has been put in this fall. The rocks used in it are big ones and are not liable to be moved by the action of the ice and water.

T. L. Heath with derrick and crew of men worked there a month laying up the bank wall. Charles E. Freeman and men have hauled in some 200 loads of loam for grading purposes and a road has been made from the camp up through the woods and pasture to Mr. Freeman's house. A new ice house has been built and the woodshed enlarged. The trees on the ¾ acre lot bought by Mr. Woodman last season have been trimmed and a substantial fence made around it. A four or five story pagoda-fashioned bird house constructed on the architectural design of Uncle John Hazen has been erected on a pole and is in readiness for occupancy by the martins in spring time.

John says he is to plant "the farm," meaning the lawn, to squashes and cucumbers next season and he expects to raise several hundred dollars' worth, but with the opening of the buds we feel he will change his mind and plant it with hollyhocks and flower seeds instead of garden truck.

The King Fisher is situated at one of the prettiest points on the lake. The view from the lawn and the piazza is immense as it covers the whole expanse of water, mountains and cottages to the north and west.

Heavy stone steps lead down to the water from the bank wall and a floating wharf is to be built for the landing of boats and with the road "The King Fisher" is easily accessible at all times of year.

Mr. Woodman contemplates building a 24-foot square addition to the building in the near future. It will be built of logs and connected with the present house on the northerly side and be used as a sitting-room. It will have a large fire-place and sleeping room up stairs.

BRYANT'S POND.

Harry M. Estes of Bryant's Pond, who was hurt in the Sherbrooke Fair special that was wrecked last September, has recovered so as to return to work for the road next month. He recently made a settlement with the road, paying him $300. Mr. Estes has worked for the Grand Trunk for some years and is a member of the bridge constuction crew.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

WHEREAS our Heavenly Father has seen fit to visit our circle once more, and to remove from our midst Brother Joseph Hibbs, although we cheerfully submit to his will and acknowledge his right, we can but sorrow for our brother's departure. Therefore be it

RESOLVED, that in the death of Brother Hibbs our Grange has met with an irreparable loss, has again felt the keen sorrow of separation. That in the death of this last male charter member we have lost a true and loyal patron and an earnest worker for the welfare of our order.

RESOLVED, that we extend the heartfelt sympathy of this Grange to our deceased brother's family, trusting that the same hand that wounds, wounds only to heal.

RESOLVED, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to Sister Hibbs and family, also placed upon our Grange records and sent to the Norway ADVERTISER for publication.

THE EDITOR'S WIFE.

Letter from an Illinois Newspaper Man that is Well Worth Reading.

As a usual thing editors save the good things for the columns of their own newspapers, but the following letter from S. H. Duncan, editor of the Seaton, Ill., Independent, shows that there is at least one editor who wants to help others. He writes as follows:

"To the Editor of the NORWAY ADVERTISER:—I wish you would print the following and thus help me to do a kindness to your readers. My wife has been a great sufferer with stomach troubles for the past four years, and the last two years practically an invalid. Nothing seemed to help her until I procured a box of Mi-o-na, nature's cure for dyspepsia. This gave her so much relief that she continued using the remedy until now she enjoys her meals, is relieved from all pain in her stomach and has increased in flesh.

I hope you will publish this letter, for I think there is no remedy for stomach trouble equal to Mi-o-na, and the more wide spread its use becomes, the more good will be done to humanity.

S. H. DUNCAN,
Editor of Independent."

Noyes Drug Store have the local agency for Mi-o-na and their faith in its merits equals Editor Duncan's. They in fact offer to pay for Mi-o-na themselves in any case where it does not give satisfaction. No stronger endorsement of the merits of the remedy can be given than this, that a local drug firm is willing to sell a medicine on their own guarantee to refund the money if it does not cure stomach troubles and increase flesh.

DAVE SHOCK AND THE UNION

By HERMAN WHITAKER

Copyright, 1903, by Herman Whitaker

A MIGHTY man in Zorra township was Dave McDonald, nicknamed "Shock" because of a delayed harvest, though a stranger would have ascribed the qualification to his red beard and fiery mat of hair.

With the exception of that particular harvest, when his shocks of wheat standing out in the early snows inexpressibly scandalized the neighborhood, benevolent Providence had been good to Dave. When his neighbors slashed right and left into the virgin forest, dropping the grand Ontario maples in runs of two or three dozen at a time, Dave smiled—and left his trees standing. And when he saw them log up and burn countless cords of black walnut and butternut he tapped the side of his nose significantly with his forefinger and remarked, "She'll pe sorry after awhiles." And sorry "she" was "after awhiles." Within twenty years Dave sold his butternut at a dollar a pound at Jimmy Hay's mill, besides enjoying the satisfaction accruing to a prophet in his own country.

Then, again, Providence sent Dave fat droves of English remittance men, to whom he imparted the mysteries of colonial farming at the modest rate of $150 a man per annum. And he worked the English lads like slaves, but fed them on the best of the land, so that from lanky city youths they developed into strong, lusty men whom it was dangerous to cross in anger. Yet he had great profit of the boys and grew rich as he grew old, and became a pillar of the church, and was well thought of through the countryside. He had but one sorrow—he had ne'er a son to inherit his 300 acres of finely timbered upland, though as a compensation his wife had presented him with the two prettiest girls in Zorra township.

On a hot morning in the month of August clouds of black dust rolled out of the open doors of Dave Shock's barn, shrouding the building in a sooty haze. Fall wheat thrashing was in full swing. Within the barn the big red thrasher raised and lowered its booming voice, coughing a metallic protest whenever an ill fed sheaf dropped broadside on into the screaming cylinder. Dave Shock bustled around superintending the carrying of the grain, the prerogative of the fathers of the settlement.

"Phew! It's awful hot!" Charley Rhodes let the rustling straw pile over the carriers while he wiped away the sweat which was depositing an alluvial debris in the corners of his eyes. Then he leaned upon his fork and stared meditatively toward the house. The monotone of the humming monster beneath faded into a distant refrain, and the flapping carriers whirled round and round, raining chaff upon the head of the unfortunate bushel-

"Here! Put this on! Do!"

man beneath, while Charely built log houses out in the forest for the pretty girl standing at the open window.

"Hi! Hi! You at the carriers! Quit yer moonin' an' dig 'em out!" yelled the hoarse, dust choked voice of the indignant busheler. "D'ye take me fer a Swede turnip ter be covered wi' straw?"

The boy blushed and plied his fork vigorously until the elevator revolved freely. Then while his arms moved with the regularity of an automaton his mind returned to the construction of rustic frames for the picture at the window.

The girl stood at the table, with sleeves rolled up and dress turned down at the neck. Her rounded throat rose from a plump bosom of bewildering whiteness, whose rounded curves made the boy out on the stack bless the heat, the cause of the becoming negligee. Yet, obedient to the primal instinct, without knowing the real nature of the feeling which moved him, while delighting in the girl's beauty, he cast occasional glances at his fellow stackers, angry that they also should share his pleasure. But, all unconscious of his scrutiny, the girl stood at the open window and rolled crust for innumerable pies. The corners of her pretty mouth were puckered into vexed dimples, and her face expressed a troubled feeling which was certainly not produced by the heat.

"Mother," she said, bringing down the rolling pin with a vicious bang on the paste, "I'm not going to stand it! You and us girls have worked hard to keep things together—bake, brew, wash, churn, milk and tend calves and pigs, to say nothing of sugaring in the spring, year in and year out—and now dad won't let us have that organ!"

The mother glanced up from her apple paring, and her eye rested on her daughter with the lingering glance of one who sees a vision of her own past loveliness "I'm no' denyin', Bessie," she said, closing her firm mouth with a characteristic snap, "that father's a wee bit close, but he said no, an' that ends it—fer him."

"But not for us," replied the girl. "Let's strike."

* * * * * * *

A jubilant yell answered the toot of the whistle which proclaimed the dinner hour, and thirty grimy thrasher men vaulted from the bays in the barn or tumbled down the steep sides of the straw stack in a mad race for first wash at the pump.

"An' Sandy Craggy's bocht a new orrgan fer his Jean," said Wully Bell as he and Dave Shock moved soberly along in the wake of the crowd. "Ye'll be gettin' ane fer yer ain lassies, Dave, mon?"

"She wull no'!" answered Dave, with prompt decision. "She'll hae no' screamin' kist o' whistles i' her hoose."

"Say, Charley," whispered Percy White, the second of Dave Shock's pupils, "what's the matter up at the house?"

Hastily withdrawing his head from beneath the streaming pump, Charley shook the water from his tangled curls and stared at the building. The lively bustle of the early morning was gone. No smoke arose from the chimneys. The door was shut, and a strange stillness brooded over the place.

"Tinner 'll pe reaty," said Dave Shock, throwing open the door. "Come—the tefil!" He stopped and glared into the quiet kitchen. The table was not spread, the fire was out, and there sat Mrs. Shock, quietly knitting.

Dave regarded his wife in horror. Such a breach of hospitality had never been known in Zorra township—thirty hungry thrashers and no dinner! The news of this would set tongues wagging as far north as Stratford.

"What 'll pe wrang?" he stuttered.

"Oh, nothin' in pertikelar," replied Mrs. Shock, impaling her ball of yarn on her knitting needles. "Me an' the girls is on strike; that's all."

A quick oath slipped from Dave Shock's tongue, and he opened his mouth to damn strikes in general and this one in particular, but his wife was too quick for him.

"Ye'll catch it, Dave Shock!" she said, rolling up her knitting. "The meenisther 'll kell o' thees, surely. Swear at yer wife, will ye? Ye'll answer fer it til the elders o' the North kirk."

"Tam the elders!" roared Dave.

"Me an' the girls is goin' visitin'," continued Mrs. Shock, tying the ribbons of her sunbonnet with a decisive twitch. "When ye've bocht the organ ye may hitch up til the double rig, an' ye'll find us at Aunt Jane's."

She stepped from the front door and, followed by her daughters, moved in stately procession down the lane and out to the concession, leaving Dave completely paralyzed by the rebellion. They had reached the front gate before he recovered the power of motion.

"Hi!" he shouted, walking to the door. The women stopped and waited to hear what he had to say. "She'll no' hae a tam kist o' squealin' whistles i' her ain hoose, an' she nefer comes pack!" he roared. His wife waved her hand in a scornful farewell, turned the corner and led the strikers up the side line.

Charley Rhodes sat on the kitchen table whistling cheerfully, and it must be admitted he had sufficient cause for merriment. He was now promoted from the inferno at the tail of the carriers and installed as chief cook, vice Mrs. Shock, resigned, and as he mellifluously warbled his way through the intricacies of the last opera he had heard before his deportation from his native Piccadilly his gaze traveled round the kitchen and rested tenderly on a little sailor hat which hung on the row of pegs. "She's the only girl I love," he sang. Then his eye chanced to light upon the clock. "The devil!" he exclaimed, jumping hastily off the table. "Half past 4 and supper for eighty ferocious thrashers at 5! Get a hump on, Charley!" He dashed into the pantry and grabbed a pile of plates, then turned, caught his foot under Mrs. Shock's spotted dog rug and shot the dishes all over the floor.

"Thunder!" he ejaculated in blank dismay. "There go Dave's best dishes—One, two, three—ten of 'em broken! Phew!"

The door opened quietly, and a female head peeped in. "Poor boy!" mentally exclaimed its owner, surveying the wreck. Then, drawing down the corners of her mouth to express extreme severity, she stepped into the kitchen and remarked: "Serves you right! Scab!"

Charley jumped. "What! Bessie! See what I've done!"

"You'll catch it!" said the girl. "Serves you right! Scab!"

"Here, Bess," said the boy in injured tones, "what are you calling names for? I haven't done anything," he pleaded, bending his long body before the little spitfire.

"Yes, you have!" contemptuously. "This," pursing her red lips, "is a strike, and you have taken the position of a striker. Wait a moment," she said, darting into the bedroom. "Here!" holding out a feminine garment at arm's length. "Put this on! Do! There's a little dear!"

Charley gazed at the obnoxious garment with reddening cheeks, then made a dash at the slighter of his manhood, but only succeeded in bumping his head against the bedroom door. He could hear the walking delegate of the woman's strike laughing inside.

"Come out, Bess!" he called.

"Will you behave?" came the reply through the keyhole.

"Yes, if you'll only come out and let me look at you," replied the nonunion laborer, rubbing his head.

"You'll be good?" reiterated the girl.

"Sure."

She opened the door and walked out. "Well, goodby," she said, opening the outer door. "I must be going. It's nearly 5, and you haven't got even a fire started yet. You'll catch it!"

"Stop a moment, Bess!" implored the boy. "Say," a bright idea striking him, "I want to join the union."

"That's a good boy!" The girl waltzed round the kitchen and brought up right opposite him. "I could almost"—

"Do!" suggested Charley, bending his curly head.

—"help you to pick up the pieces."

"Hang the—oh, I beg pardon! I meant I should be delighted. Yes, I'll join the strike on one condition."

"What's that?"

He leaned forward and whispered in her ear. She opened her mouth to laugh, but caught the earnest look in his eyes and blushed and hung her head.

"You don't mean it," she answered, playing with the ribbons in the bosom of her dress. "What would your folks in England say?"

Charley captured the fluttering hands and drew her toward him and commenced to say some uncomplimentary things about the folks in England, but she placed her hand over his mouth and stopped the sacrilege.

"Don't talk that way of my future relations," she said archly.

"Then you will, Bess?"

She was about to reply when the toot of the whistle and the hungry yell of a score of thrashers interrupted her words. Hastily tiptoeing, she kissed him on the lips and had just time to seat herself sedately in Dave Shock's chair when the door opened and the thrashers walked in.

"Whaur 'll pe supper?" growled Dave, speaking to Charley, but staring at his daughter.

"Get your own supper!" replied the boy. "I've joined the strike."

"You hain't got no organ a-comin'," said Ed Brady, the thrasher.

"Stroke's sympathetic," laconically answered Charley.

"Don't blame ye!" said Ed, with a knowing glance at the blushing girl. "Send me a piece of the cake. Guess there's no supper here, boys. I'm a-goin' ter dre drive home. Who's fer my way?"

"She'll ket oot o' here," roared Dave after the thrashers had departed, "an' tak' the meddlin' hissy wi' her!"

"All right, Mr. McDonald," replied the boy, "but don't forget to send back the last quarter's premium to the agent. Dishwashing is not colonial farming, you know."

Old Dave winced beneath this Parthian shaft. To lose money was bad, but to lose both money and free labor was agony. Yet he stuck to his mandate and pointed sternly to the door.

"She'll petter pe gettin' supper," he said, turning to Percy White, "an' hersel wul do ta chores."

"Guess not," replied Percy. "Count me in this strike, Charley. Wait a minute until I hitch up my pony, and I'll drive Miss Bessie home."

* * * * * * *

"Yer pigs is lookin' remarkable well." Ed Brady leaned over the sty and punched a fat sow in the ribs. He was out collecting, and many years' experience of the ways of the Zorra Scot had taught him that when you have designs on a man's pocket it is always wise to get him in a good humor. But this time his compliment did not produce the desired effect. The strike was still on, and for thirty days Dave Shock's swine had luxuriated in the delights of unskimmed milk.

"She should pe fat!" growled Dave, glowering at a Berkshire barrow as though he were responsible for all the waste. "Thety tays an' no' a pound o' putter ta market, an' she'll no' ket an acre o' fall plowin' ton, an' all," he added, rumpling his fiery mop of hair, "pecause off a tam squealin' kist o' whistles!"

The thrasher looked becomingly shocked, but blew his nose to hide a covert grin.

"Twenty cows ye said ye was milkin', Dave?"

"Twanty an' twa!" groaned Dave in an agony of spirit.

"As many as thet? Say, I'm thinkin' the butter would jest about bought a organ, wouldn't it?"

"She'll hae no' tam screamin' kist o' whistles i' her ain hoose an' she milks twanty an' twa coos till toomestay!" roared Dave.

"Don't blame ye," replied Ed in soothing tones. "Haven't bin ter meetin' myself sin' the Methodys put a new organ inter the old meetin' house," which was certainly true, only his secession antedated the arrival of the organ by some ten years. "I kain't abide organs," he added sympathetically.

Dave grunted his approval of the thrasher's stern and uncompromising adherence to these fundamental principles of religious faith, and while under the spell paid two notes instead of the one which was due.

"I was past yer sister's this mornin'," said the thrasher as they walked toward his rig. "They're a-goin', ter hev a double weddin' there nex' week. Wish ye joy of yer new sons, Dave."

Dave's red hair fairly bristled with rage and horror at these woeful tidings. "She'll—pe—meanin'—my—tauchters?" he stuttered.

"Shore? Who else? They've hired me ter fiddle at the weddin'."

"The hissies!" ejaculated the irate Scot. "She'll pe marryin' on a man an' leffin' her ain father wi' twanty an twa coos to milk an' t'ree hun'red acres o' fall plowin' an' no a furrow turned!"

"An' say, Dave," continued Ed, leaning forward, a mysterious look on his face, "old Wully Bell's a-hangin' round yer sister's a good deal o' late. Yer wife's a likely lookin' woman, an' Wully's gettin' on in years. He kaint afford ter be pertiklar. Ye'll remember," he said musingly, "thet his brother Job ran off with McCloud's wife?"

AN OLD MAN'S TRIBUTE.

An Ohio Fruit Raiser, 78 Years Old, Cured of a Terrible Case After Ten Years of Suffering.

When suffering daily torture
From backache, rheumatic pain,
Any ill of kidneys or bladder,
Turn to Doan's Kidney Pills.
A cure endorsed by thousands.
Read an old man's tribute.

Sidney Justus, fruit dealer, of Mentor, Ohio, says: "I was cured by Doan's Kidney Pills of a severe case of kidney trouble of eight or ten years' standing. I suffered the most severe backache and other pains in the region of the kidneys. These were especially severe when stooping to lift anything, and often I could hardly straighten my back. The aching was bad in the daytime, but just as bad at night, and I was always lame in the morning. I was bothered with rheumatic pains and dropsical swelling of the feet. The urinary passages were painful, and the secretions were discolored and so free that often I had to rise at night. I felt tired all day. Half a box served to relieve me, and three boxes effected a permanent cure."

SIDNEY JUSTUS.

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mr. Justus will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sold by all dealers; price, fifty cents per box.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

ROYAL
leaves neither acid nor alkali in the food.

In raising food in the old-fashioned way, with cream of tartar and soda, there is either an acid or an alkali remaining. The cream of tartar and soda bought from the shops vary greatly in strength, so that no one but a chemist after analysis can use them in the proper proportions to obtain a neutral result. A little too much cream of tartar, and there is an acid residuum. A little too much soda, and there is an alkaline or soapy taste left.

Royal is compounded by expert chemists who determine by analysis the quality of all ingredients and admit none but the most highly refined. The result of its work is accordingly pure, sweet, wholesome food which can be eaten without discomfort by those of most delicate digestion. The Royal saves labor to the housewife amounting to more than its cost.

WEST FRYEBURG.

Charles--Jewett.

At the home of the parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Woodman Charles of North Fryeburg, Nov. 23d, in the evening, Myrtle I. Charles of North Fryeburg and Seth W. Jewett of West Fryeburg were united in marriage in the presence of relatives and friends of the respective families.

The rooms were prettily decorated, the color scheme being green and white. In one room in the bay window was a background of plants in bloom while lace draperies decorated with trailing vines of green gracefully simulated a bower. Here the officiating clergyman awaited the bridal party.

To the strains of a wedding march played by Mrs. H. D. E. Hutchins, the assembled guests proceeded to their places, when the bride leaning upon the arm of her father and the groom attended by H. D. E. Hutchins as best man took their places before the clergyman, Rev. Mr. Doughty of Fryeburg Harbor. The ceremony included the ring service, and at its close the newly wedded pair gave a reception standing in the place before occupied by the pastor.

A supper followed the reception, the young ladies in attendance as waitresses being dressed in white and green. The bride's dress was of white with trimming of lace and the dainty smilax vines gave a charming simplicity and color to the costume of the young bride, who carried a bouquet of white flowers.

After the supper, the excellence of which was in keeping with the other details of the occasion, the guests were interested in the array of varied and beautiful gifts from the many friends and well wishers of the young couple. Mr. and Mrs. Jewett will reside in town for the present.

Towle--Haley.

Wednesday morning at eight o'clock at the residence of Rev. B. N. Stone of Fryeburg, the officiating clergyman, was solemnized the marriage of Emma Elizabeth Towle of Fryeburg and Frank Charles Haley of Fryeburg Center. Immediately after the ceremony the wedded pair took the train for a brief bridal tour.

Mr. and Mrs. Haley will reside at Fryeburg Center, where the bridegroom recently purchased a farm for their home.

The bride was one of West Fryeburg's beautiful girls till her removal with her parents three years ago, during which time she has taught successfully several terms in town schools. The good wishes of many friends will go with Mr. and Mrs. Haley in their new home.

Richard C. Hutchins left this place last week to spend the winter with his mother in Lowell, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hill of Westbrook were guests of Dana Hill and wife for some days last week at South Chatham, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. E. Hutchins spent Thanksgiving day as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McKeen of Fryeburg, the latter, Mrs. Hutchins' sister.

Forrest Hill and wife of Harding, Mass., were recent guests at the ancestral home of the former, also at the home of Mr. Hill's sister, Mrs. Ranford Locke of South Chatham.

Marguerite McKeen spent a two weeks' vacation delightfully in Portland, returning to her home in Fryeburg, Saturday. Marguerite is enthusiastic over the drives in a pony carriage given her by a neighbor of Mrs. Bucknam, her hostess.

James H. Hardy and Frank Hutchins are enjoying the luxury of a plentiful water supply brought by aqueduct from a spring upon the premises of Edwin Walker. Six other families draw their water supply from the same fountain, which also flows into a large watering trough by the roadside near Mr. Walker's residence. An unfailing supply of excellent water is surely appreciated in these days of failing wells and frequent drouths.

After a brief illness of typhoid pneumonia, being confined to the house but a few days, Clifford H. Walker of South Chatham died on Monday morning, Nov. 21st, aged 36 years. The funeral occurred Wednesday, Nov. 23d, at the family homestead and the burial at the cemetery near by. Mr. Walker was a young man of estimable character, quiet in his demeanor and habits, and he will be greatly missed in the neighborhood in which he resided. He was the only son of his mother, Mrs. Sarah Walker, who is a widow, and who with a sister, Bessie P. Walker, constitutes his immediate surviving relatives, his father, Josiah Walker, and a sister Martha having died several years ago.

Mrs. Elwell Andrews of Lovell is the guest of her sister, Mrs. E. L. Walker, for some days.

Henry and Alex. Stevens have gone to Lawrence, Mass., to spend the winter with their niece, Mabel Andrews.

Mrs. Nancy McKeen is enjoying an outing of some weeks with relatives and friends at North Fryeburg and vicinity.

Mrs. Susan Ballard, who celebrated her 95th birthday, Oct. 4th, is spending some time with her granddaughter, Mrs. E. E. Walker.

Ernestine Eastman is stopping with her Grandma Clarke, who is a companion for Mrs. Martha Frye at Fish Street for a week. Mrs. Frye has gone to Denmark to attend the wedding of her nephew, Augustus Colby, the ensuing week.

Henry Burbank, formerly from this place but now located at Hurley, South Dakota, is visiting relatives in this section. He left here about seven years ago to seek his fortune in the far West, and this is his first visit to his native town.

Sisterhood Entertainment.

The Cragie Assembly Sisterhood with greetings most hearty,
Invite you to come to their Venders' party,
And see the sights of the Fakir's Row'
Each in his costume queer you know.
There'll be candy, popcorn, laces and frills
And the hokey pokey, who ice cream yells,
While each in poem or song will tell
About the wares he has to sell.
Hurdy-gurdy and tambourine will be there
To add to the program their small share.
To admit you will not need any sum.
But you had better bring some with you when you come,
For of good things we have so many in store
We are very sure you will want some more,
And you certainly would be very sad
If nothing to carry home you had.
Remember the place—S. of T. Hall,
Remember the date—December 10th,
And don't be late, but be on time that you may see
Street Venders' Procession from A to Z.

The Sisterhood will hold a sale and small entertainment in Sons of Temperance Hall, Dec. 10, Saturday evening. There will be the usual tables, fancy, apron, candy, ice cream and a tulip bed, also an entertainment consisting of songs, readings, tableaux and the Peddlers' Parade. Admittance free.

Committee in charge, Mrs. Walter Holden, Mrs. Emerson Bennett, Mrs. Samuel Eaton. Committee of entertainment, Mrs. Geo. W. Cash, Mrs. Morris Clark, Mrs. Harry Russell, Mrs. Arthur Record.

Another Surprise Party.

There was another surprise party at Highland farm, Saturday evening. This time it was for Percy Caisons, who works for Mr. Davis. Mr. Caisons' cousins and friends from Otisfield sent word to Mrs. Davis that they were coming, and she as usual prepared the treat and said never a word about it, so when the party reached the house it was a genuine surprise to all.

The hours passed swiftly with games and music. Fruit, confectionery, cake and coffee was served during the evening and a good time was enjoyed by all.
